

9. The mill's placement was experimental and I repositioned it many times until finding the optimum location. With that done, I determined the layout of the yard.